

Welcome 2013!
Way 2 Much Entertainment had a spectacular 2012. The year flew by and was filled with incredible successes and accomplishments.

We were honored to be invited back to Washington D.C. by the White House Social Office, and we entertained corporate and private audiences across the country and around the globe.

In 2012, we saw the realization of our most ambitious and prestigious projects to date. We introduced over 100 completely new and original creations, created multiple customized business theatre productions, performed with Kelly Clarkson at the Red Rocks Amphitheater, made a dream come true for a celebrity client, and saw our innovative concepts featured in Biz Bash Magazine.

We would love to show it all to you here but we are in the midst of a makeover and website remodel and we don't want to ruin the surprise!
Once the virtual dust settles,
we will be offering our premium clients a first glance at why Way2 Much Entertainment are THE Innovative Theatrical Specialists.

We also wanted to share with you our new Red Carpet Expericence photo service!

Whether attendees are posing with our whimsical greeters at a designated spot or expressing their own creative flair at our styling station, they will leave with a professional quality keepsake print to make the memories last.
